

Change of circumstances

Participants of the National Disability Insurance Scheme and people who are waiting on the outcomes of their access requests must by law tell the NDIA of any changes in their circumstances.

What is a change of circumstances?

A change of circumstances is an event or change in your life that may affect:

- your access request
- your status as a participant in the NDIS
- your plan.

For example, you must tell us if:

- your disability support needs change
- your informal care arrangements change significantly
- you apply for, receive, or are entitled to compensation for injury
- you plan on moving (or have moved) house
- you plan on moving (or have moved) overseas, or
- you plan on moving (or have moved) permanently into aged care residential accommodation.

When do I need to tell NDIA my circumstances have changed?

You must let the NDIA know as soon as reasonably practicable after you become aware that a change of circumstances has happened or is likely to happen.

If you do not inform the NDIA of a change of circumstances, for example a change of contact details or address, your plan and payment of supports might not be able to be reviewed by the scheduled date.

A change of circumstances may also result your plan needing to be reviewed for any changes in your supports. If you fail to notify the NDIA of a change in your circumstances and you continue to receive supports that you are not entitled too, you may be asked to repay an amount in respect of the funded support services.
