The NDIA is seeking independent experts to join the Pricing Arrangements Reference Group (PARG).

The PARG provides independent advice to help inform National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) pricing policies and arrangements. Members review and provide feedback on pricing work, including analysis, methodologies, assumptions and recommendations. The PARG is an advisory body and does not have decision-making authority.

Information about the opportunity, member roles and how to apply is available on AusTender .

The NDIA encourages stakeholders to share this opportunity with individuals who have experience to contribute to the PARG.

For more information, including the Terms of Reference, Evaluation Criteria and Response Form, visit AusTender .
