31 July 2020

The NDIA has developed a Digital Partnership Program (DPP). The DPP will manage controlled and secure access to some of the NDIA's data and systems.

Access will be via Application Programming Interfaces (APIs).

Providers and software developers can use the APIs to create new tools, apps and digital marketplaces. The DPP aims to improve how participants, providers and the NDIA all connect and work together.

In February 2020, the NDIA released a discussion paper to ask for your feedback on the DPP. It included details on the DPP, subscription process, terms and conditions, and the proposed new NDIS payments platform.

Read our summary of the 31 responses received and planned next steps.

Related articles

Exploring future digital partnerships

Date
12 March 2020

Delivering the NDIS: Digital Partnership Program begins developer onboarding phase

Date
30 June 2020

Delivering the NDIS: Digital innovators to inform improvement of NDIS participant experience

Date
28 February 2020
Read more news