Today, the Minister for the National Disability Insurance Scheme, the Hon Stuart Robert MP, released the Quarterly Report to disability ministers Q1 2020-21.

The Quarterly Report is a summary of how the Scheme performed from 1 July 2020 to 30 September 2020.

Get an update on how we are performing against the service standards set out in the Participant Service Guarantee

As part of the last Quarterly Report, we announced the Participant Service Charter and Guarantee. Now we have data to show how we are tracking with our Service Guarantee, which sets clear timeframes for key NDIS processes.

For example, we are making 100 per cent of access decisions within 14 days (once we receive all relevant information). We are also completing 99 per cent of reviews of reviewable decisions within 90 days. It doesn't end here.

Learn about the NDIA's COVID-19 response

Find out how the Agency has responded to the COVID-19 pandemic to support participants, their families and carers, providers, staff and partners.

For example, the Agency has made 6,902 calls to participants in lockdown in Victoria during the second wave – to check in on vulnerable participants. This is in addition to the 65,844 participants we contacted last quarter.

Read interesting participant stories

One of the many stories in the Quarterly Report talks about the Sing Song Signers Choir in the Northern Territory, run by NDIS provider, Down Syndrome Association. This choir, made up of people with disability, 'signs' their songs and leaves their audience in awe.

Read the full story on page 29, and enjoy a number of other participant stories throughout the report too.
