

On this page:

2022-23 Annual Pricing Review \(APR\)

Feedback on the review

The NDIA is committed to the continuous improvement of the methodologies underpinning the NDIS price controls framework.

A combination of market data, research, public consultation and regular industry engagement informs changes to pricing arrangements and price limits.

2022-23 Annual Pricing Review (APR)

Last year the Minister for the NDIS, the Hon. Bill Shorten, announced the NDIS Review. The NDIS Review will be finalised in October 2023 and is expected to look at the design, operations and sustainability of the NDIS, including matters related to pricing.

Due to the NDIS Review running at the same time as the 2022-23 APR, this year's APR will be more targeted and focus on the price limits of the following supports:

- supports delivered by disability support workers
- therapy supports
- support coordination
- plan management.

We are starting public consultations in March 2023 and have released a consultation paper.

More details on the scope of this year's pricing review and key dates can be found in the Terms of Reference.

- Annual Pricing Review 2022-23 Terms of Reference \(62KB DOCX\)
- Annual Pricing Review 2022-23 Terms of Reference \(159KB PDF\)

Feedback on the review

We released the Annual Pricing Review 2022-23 Consultation Paper. Submissions in response to the consultation paper closed AEST 11:59 pm Thursday 13 April 2023.

- Annual Pricing Review 2022-23 Consultation Paper \(233KB DOCX\)
- Annual Pricing Review 2022-23 Consultation Paper \(305KB PDF\)

A summary of the findings from the consultations will be published in the APR Report along with the final pricing recommendations in June 2023, for an implementation in July 2023.

This page current as of 17 April 2023