The NDIA has updated its market data today to help providers and the community understand NDIS market trends as of 30 June 2021.

The NDIS Market Report is one of a series of reports released by the NDIA as part of the Agency's commitment to sharing specialist data .

The report compares a number of market indicators across geographical regions and participant characteristics, and identifies "hot spots" where support provision is comparatively lower or higher than the rest of the NDIS market.

The refreshed NDIS market dashboards provide information and indicators on the NDIS market by region and local government areas (LGA).

These reports are in addition to the comprehensive Quarterly reports.
